accident last night.

Where are the police? They are needed nearly every night of a show at the opera house to suppress the hoodlums that hang about on the outside in the alleys, damaging property, looking through the windows, and disturbing the audiences and show people inside. Is not E. O. Smith, who pays heavy taxes, and Manager Haines, who pays his license money in advance, entitled to police protection? A prompt arrest or two by the police who are generally there to see the shows would abate the nuisance. Surely the officers are not afraid of the boys.
Even the merchants complain on account of the disorderly conduct of the boys who congregate at the rear of the opera house and make a nuisance of themselves.

DEATH BY DROWNING.

The unfortunate is Frank Robeson, a Printer—Search for the Body.

Frank Robeson, of Louisville, Ind., a strolling printer, aged 19, who came to Decatur on Tuesday of last week, and had been setting type in the Review office, met death by drowning in the Sangamon river at the bend, 300 feet above the Maffit iron bridge, Sunday forenoon, at 10:30 o'clock. The young man had been stopping with J. C. Owen, at 807 South Webster street, and in company with Wesley Owen, aged 20; Willie Owen, aged 11; Willie Lyon, aged 16; Archie Schultz, aged 14, and a cripple, Frank Gray, had gone to the river for a swim.
All but Gray disappeared at a point 350 feet above the bridge, where the water was about 20 feet deep. Robeson was the right bank, beyond which point the water was 15 to 18 feet deep with a swift and whirling current. Owing to the recent rains the water was very high and quite chilly. Robeson swam out to the current, when he found that the current bore him downward toward the bridge. He paddled back to the bank, and telling his companions that he was going up the river to come down with the current, he ran eastward along the bank to a point 500 yards away, where he got on a log and waited for the others. The boys remained at the place where the party had first gone into the water. Robeson came down the river swiftly, when suddenly he cried out for help, and threw up first one and then the other hand. Knowing that he could not swim against the current, Wesley Owen got on the bank and ran eastward 100 feet to a point where it was possible for him to go to the rescue of Robeson, but by that time he had floated swiftly down the stream, sinking and coming to the surface three or four times in rapid succession, and as quickly sank for the last time to rise no more. He went down while making a desperate effort to reach the shore in what is supposed to be 15 feet of water. In less than eight minutes after the party disrobed the catastrophe occurred. Robeson seemed to be a good swimmer, and the theory is that he was taken with cramps, which rendered him powerless to reach the shallow water.

TRYING TO FIND THE BODY.

Coroner Perl was notified of the fatality, and within a short time that official and a large number of men and boys visited the river when the search for the body began. Various methods were suggested to find the body and different theories were advanced as to its probable location. Some thought it would be found not far from the place where it sank; others believed the current had carried it far down the stream, while others thought it might have lodged in some deep place at any point below the place where it sank. The coroner is not surprised to invent any excuse for serious infidelity of the body of a person meeting death under such circumstances, and therefore he could not hire anyone to aid in the search. What was done up to 3 o'clock was voluntary on the part of the men who went down to the river, and as well as they could. Supervisors Hill and Freeman, Mayor Kanaw, and Commissioner Maffit were at the river during the search, and different measures of bringing the body to the surface were suggested. Mr. Robeson got his drag-line hung with many hooks and with the aid of two boats that were used in the search, and a coil of rope was brought from the city. It was stretched across the river, and a reward of $20 was offered by Supervisors Hill and Freeman to the man who would find the body. A number of men then got hold of the rope and waded as well as they could, using poles where they could not strike bottom. The body was not found, and at dark the search ceased. During the day several hundred people visited the river.

This morning early Coroner Perl renewed the search, thus far without success. E. O. Reece took a box of giant powder to the river, and used the whole lot. Four to six of the cartridges were fired together and a long fuse attached.
The fuse was lighted and the cartridges thrown into the stream at different points up and down the river. The explosion which followed was terrific, throwing the water 10 to 15 feet high and causing a general disturbance of the water. Over a dozen explosions were made and hundreds of fish killed, and nearly 18 inches in length and weighing several pounds.
The body was not raised, though the search was extended as far south as the bend in the river at the Allen place.

NOT FOUND.

The latest news from the river is, the body has not been found. There are about 150 men at work and looking on, and the coroner is putting in full time managing the search. The idea prevails that the body is somewhere near the bridge. Somebody got a lot of bread and saturated it with quinine. It is to be thrown into the water where the body sank. The notion is that the loaf will float about and stop over the spot where the body is lodged. This is one of the many schemes adopted to find the remains.

LATER—When last heard of the loaf of bread had been tipped by the current and carried down under the bridge sinking.

Decatur will make an effort to secure the location of the State Home for Veteran Soldiers at some point near this city. Members of the Decatur Club are moving in the matter. The Legislature has an appropriation of $250,000 for this Home. The bill provides that Governor Oglesby shall appoint seven commissioners whose duty it shall be to locate the Home. If commissioners favorable to Decatur are secured, our chances will be excellent. The Home will require 160 to 240 acres of ground, and fully $150,000 will be expended in the construction of buildings and in putting the grounds in shape. The Home will be a home for all veterans of Illinois regiments.

AT THE PARK.

There will be a free display of fire works at Oakland Park to-night. Every evening this week there will be something extra going on at the Park—band music, fireworks, balloon ascensions. The street cars go to the entrance.

DISCHARGED.

Representative James, the democrat from Randolph county, on trial before Justice Conwell at Springfield Saturday, justified by making a criminal case on Nannie Jackson, a girl aged 16 in the Home, was discharged from custody, it being apparent to the magistrate from the evidence that the accusation was simply a blackmailing scheme on the part of the girl and her father to squeeze money out of the old man. He is said to be worth $100,000. Some days ago a civil suit for damages against James for $20, 000 was commenced.

The Base Ball Game.

The advertised base ball game between the Decatur Reds and the crack nine from Springfield will be played at the Park to-morrow afternoon. It will commence at 3 o'clock sharp, and Managers Starr and Schroll promise the public a close and exciting contest. The captain of the Decatur club is Charles Shilling.
The Reds will wear their white uniforms and red stockings, and will occupy the following positions in the game: Louis Hardin, catcher.
Fred Tuttle, pitcher.
Lee Hall, 1st base.
Chas Shilling, 2d base.
Ed. Martin, 3d "
Frank Montague, short stop.
Henry Monk, right field.
Alfonso Conley, centre field.
Warren Laird, left field.
The umpire will be Charles Hershely, and Goodman's band will be in attendance, conducting the clubs from the city to the Park. The enclosed ground is supplied with covered seats, and special efforts will be made to entertain and please all who go out to witness the dedicated game. Admission, 25 cts; ladies, free.

Went Under.

Sunday afternoon a party of amateur carpenters got into a boat at Oakland Park and within five minutes after they had paid their 25 cents they had the boat tipped over in four feet of water, and all had to wade for the shore and send through the timber for the street cars and dry clothing. The tip-over was near the east end of the lake among the trees, and the episode which was witnessed by several hundred people causing alarm at first, was followed by cheers and yells when the party waded out and for a minute or so roosted on the nearest fence to scrape off the mud and water. The unfortunate were W. A. Yore, of Chicago, representing the Lorillard tobacco firm, S. O. Hunsbush, representing a St. Louis wholesale house, both guests at the St.
Nicholas; Mr. Einstein, clerk at Chesterley's, and Albert Baehnech whom Mr.
Y. rescued from possible drowning. Yore lays the accident to Einstein who wanted to row the boat and got up to take the place, stopping not in the centre but on the side of the boat.

Jumped Off the Bridge.

John Banden, a Wabash brakeman, and a party of friends went to the Illinois Central railroad bridge Sunday afternoon to have some fun. Mr. Banden had made a wager that he could dive off the bridge into the Sangamon river, a distance of 56 feet, without injury to himself and he accomplished the dangerous feat. He wore a cap and a pair of pantaloons and made the plunge striking the water on his head. He went down about five feet and came up quickly. Subsequently he jumped off the bridge, striking feet foremost. There was no other man in the party who was willing to risk the plunge from the top of the bridge.

A Burglary.

This forenoon between 9 and 10 o'clock three boys under 18 broke into W. E.
Horne's barn on West Main street, and stole a lot of silver and plated ware, clothing and other articles. Mr. Horne caught one of the boys, James Ellison, a one-armed boot-black. Harry Cooper, with spoons in his hands, got away. He dropped the spoons. The other thief will be caught. Ellison is in jail. He gave up the whole story, and says John Barger, colored, was the third thief.

The New Bakers.

The new bakery firm of Schunbach & Simmette, successors to Leiby Bros., at 129 East Main street, have a displayed advertisement in another column, inviting the public to give them a share of patronage. Both are practical bakers, and will have on sale the very best of Vienna bread, buns, rolls, a full line of finest cakes, pies, etc., prepared in modern style and delivered to any part of the city every day. The driver of the wagon will have the bakery fitted up in fine style, and they will make special efforts to merit and retain the patronage of the public.

BREAKS OF SATURDAY'S STORM.

The whirl wind at Mills & Harry's Paering Mill—House Struck by Lightning.

The extremely sultry state of the atmosphere Saturday promised the coming of a storm, and it gathered late in the afternoon, but only a little rain fell. The air was charged with electricity that was poured down in brief streaks from the dark and ominous looking clouds, with the accompaniment of heavy thunder. The storm came up from the southwest, and the clouds gradually shifted around to the north and east. Soon after two o'clock the flashes of lightning became more frequent and rain fell mostly in the northern and eastern portions of the city.
There was no wind of any consequence up town, but in the first ward it shook things up right lively for a few minutes.

$150 DAMAGE AT MILLS & HARRY'S MILL.

It seems that a miniature cyclone struck the roof of the main building at Mills & Harry's paering mill, corner of East Eldorado street and the L. O. R. K. The heavy sheet iron roofing was stripped from the east side and rolled up like paper. It was blown westward and large sections of it flew in the air 160 yards, falling with a loud crash on Dr. Sibbey's house, seriously frightening Mrs. Sibbey, who perhaps thought a section of the day of judgment had arrived. The rain poured into the mill, soaking the work benches and damaging some of the tools the men had left exposed on quiting work, fifteen minutes before the storm came.
In the yard much of the lumber was blown about, as was also a considerable portion of the lumber piles at the corner company's yard, across the street south. The damage to the mill is placed at $150.

MISS JOHN T. REID'S ESCAPE.

At about the same hour there was an exciting time at the home of John T. Reid, the wagon-maker, at No. 104 North Union street, in the second ward. The family had just returned the dwelling by cleaning it and repairing the walls. The stove stood in the corner of the room and was wrapped in paper. Mrs.
Reid had sat down and taken one of her naps when she threw a foot away. Just then there came a blinding flash of lightning which struck the brick chimney reaching to the ground, and instantly there was great confusion. The four sides of the chimney were burst outward and pieces of brick and mortar were scattered about. The lightning reached for the stove in the corner and burst all the paper off it, and then it went for the stove on the floor. The stove was torn all to pieces and the steel tank was jerked out of it in a hurry. Three carpets were partly ruined by the lightning, but no other damage was done. All members of the family were in the house at the time except Charles, who was down town. Mrs. Reid was badly frightened, but did not experience serious shock. She had to buy a new pair of shoes Saturday night, so she could go to church on Sunday.

Police.

In Justice Stevens' court this morning, in default of paying a small fine, Frank Burns, a bootblack, was sent down to join the chain gang.

Michael Eahler, on complaint of D. B.
Noggle, was before the same justice, charged with being guilty of conduct calculated to disturb the peace. The case was dismissed.

Riley Scott was before Justice Curtis to-day, charged in a peace warrant with threatening to kill Mollie Curtis, a notorious white woman of loose morals. Riley will have his hearing on the 9th of July.

The Outlaw woman was put in jail on Sunday for violating the city ordinances.
This morning Curtis fined Charles Shepherd $3 and costs for intoxication.

The Drama To-Night.

The Miss Jean Craven dramatic company will appear to-night in "Hazel Kirke." The company has just closed a successful engagement at Pekin. Said a paper of that city:

Empire Hall was well filled last evening to see Miss Craven appear in her favorite character, "Hazel Kirke." The little lady won new stam for her "crown of rejoicing" by the beautiful and elaborate manner in which she presented her ideal of that character last evening. The performance was remarkably good throughout, everyone seeming to be at their best. The audience was very attentive and seemed to be highly pleased with the entertainment. This evening the company will close its week's engagement in our city, on which occasion they will produce "Pygmalion and Galatea." Miss Craven appearing as Galatea.

Admission 10, 15 and 25 cents. Change of bill each evening during the week.

The Gospel service of the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday afternoon was made pleasant and profitable by the presence of State Secretary I. E. Brown, who gave a short and graphic account of the great International convention held at Atlanta, Ga., the result of which was the salvation of several hundred young men and the raising of nearly $100,000 to put up a building for the home association. Delegates from nearly all parts of the world were present. Some facts in regard to the young men of Decatur were presented by the general secretary which would startle and surprise any one and should awaken the people of the community to better the places of resort thrown open to them.

Commanded.

Speaking of the Prohibition campmeeting to be held at Oakland Park July 31 to August 8, the Leader of Bloomington says: "It is reported that Dr. Hatfield and Mrs. Ellen Foster will be permitted to speak at the Decatur Prohibition camp-meeting in opposition to the third party movement. This is a concession well worth noting. The practice of the St. Johnites has been to stifle all expression of opinion upon this subject which did not fully accord with their own views. A majority of the true temperance men and women of the land have no sympathy with it as a political movement, and as such it will never accomplish an iota of good for the cause."
